Board Picks City Airport Manager

By FRED WEIGEL

The much sought after job of airport manager for Palm Springs' newly acquired municipal airport should be filled by Oct. 1, Airport Commission Chairman Tom Kieley said today.

In a unanimous recommendation from the Commission to City Manager Dan Wagner, the five man airport board named Delmar L. Canady, 39, a Naval Air Reserve Commander and presently manager of the Detroit City Airport, to the job.

The city is preparing to take over the operation of the airport, which was just purchased under a $3,000,000 bond issue approved by the voters last March.

After intensive interviews of a score of applicants, the commission recommended the 20-year veteran of flying and airport operation.

Canady was born in San Bernardino. He was a Navy Commander in the Naval Air Corps.

"His file looks real good," said chairman Kieley, "and we are proud to have secured a man whom we know will be a credit to the community and will do an outstanding job."

Wagner said he would call Canady in Detroit today to inform him of his appointment, and ask him to report for work Oct. 1.

It will be Jan. 1, 1962 before the city takes over actual operation of the airport. The present lease with Aero Palm Springs ends on that date.

Dove Hunt Sportsmen Fill Valleys

Highway Patrol and Sheriff's Officers Patrolling Traffic

Clogging the highway with its heaviest traffic in many months, dove hunters by the hundreds poured into the farm areas of Coachella and Imperial Valleys yesterday and today to try and shoot their limit of the gourmet birds.

The California Highway Patrol said this morning there was heavy traffic on the highways, and a great many hunters in the area of Thermal and Oasis, along Highway 99.

Early opening restaurants along state highway routes were filled to capacity with patrons grabbing early breakfasts.

Riverside County Sheriff deputies are putting all men into uniform and into the field, including the plain-clothes detective units.

The Department of Fish and Game, normally having one man to handle the local hunting situation, has increased its force in the desert area to keep hunters within the law.

A Sheriff's office spokesman said that there were a lot of dove in the area, but with a lack of grain fields, he doesn't know what draws them here.

Death Toll of 420 Seen for The Weekend

By United Press International

Millions of Americans took to the highways today to enjoy a final summer fling during the long Labor Day weekend, sobered by the National Safety Council's prediction that at least 420 would die in traffic accidents.

As the 78-hour holiday began, it appeared that motorists were responding to the council's plea for an all-out effort to hold the casualty toll below the 415 recorded last Labor Day. The record of 461 was set in 1951, according to council figures.

The United Press International count at 9:30 a.m., EDT showed a death toll of 31 persons on the nation's roads in the first 15 hours of the holiday period. Five drownings and two fatalities in miscellaneous accidents raised the violent death toll to 38.

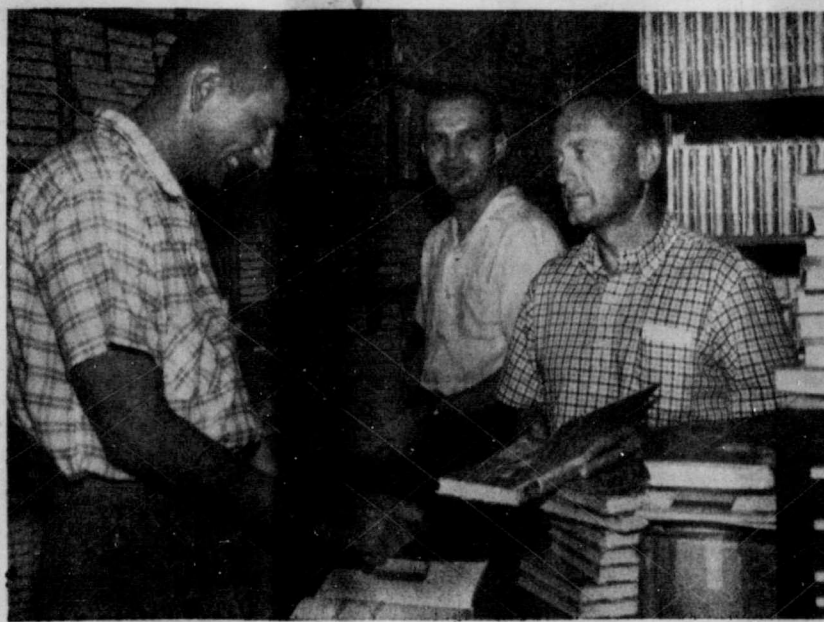

A plea for highway sanity was issued by President Kennedy who called on all Americans to "drive with patience and a clear head." In a statement issued from the White House, the President asked everyone to drive with "consideration for the rights of others, giving exemplary support to effective traffic enforcement."

Most of the nation's 74-million cars were expected to roll up 7.4 billion miles before the weekend period ends Monday midnight. In addition to the predicted death toll of 420, the safety council said another 17,000 persons would receive disabling injuries.

Highway patrols were prepared to work overtime in virtually every state in an effort to hold down the toll. Numerous states worked out special safety programs.

Truck drivers across the nation pledged to keep their lights on night and day to emphasize the need for alertness and to serve as a reminder to motorists.

RUSS MUM ON A-BLAST AS WORLD ANGER RISES

OPERATION AMIGOS is under way. The Palm Springs JayCees plan to send school textbooks to Mexico. JayCee President Charles Kasmer, project co-chairman Arnold Perlin, and High School principal Dr. Austin Sellery show how the job will be done. The JayCees will stamp each book on the inside cover: "A gift from the Palm Springs Junior Chamber of Commerce for our good neighbors in Mexico." There will be a total of 4,000 books supplied by the school district as a result of a bill recently signed by Gov. Edmund G. Brown. (Desert Sun Photo)

WHERE 78 PERISHED

Wreckage Sifted For Crash Clues

HINSDALE, Ill. (UPI) — Seven teams of federal air detectives sifted pieces of twisted wreckage today, searching for a clue to the mystery of how a Trans World Airlines constellation plunged 78 persons to their deaths.

Their investigation, which may take weeks, concentrated almost immediately on the battered tail section of the plane which plowed into a corn and soybean field near this western Chicago suburb Friday.

The tail section was almost 300 feet from the main body of the wreckage. Speculation arose that the tail was somehow ripped off before the actual crash.

Robert Allen, chief safety inspector for the Civil Aeronautics Board (CAB), said "the tail didn't just fall off."

Allen assigned CAB investigators to work in teams assigned to operations structure, power plants, human factors, witnesses, systems and records.

As the CAB men got to work, the bodies of 25 of the victims were taken from the Cook County Morgue in Chicago to a makeshift morgue in the Fire Department headquarters at Westmont.

Jim Clark, acting Du Page County coroner, said he would swear in a coroner's jury today. He planned to take the jury members on a tour of the crash scene near the community of Clarendon Hills. But Clark did not plan a formal coroner's investigation until after the CAB makes its report.

Melvin Gough, director of the CAB's Safety Bureau, said the investigators would not rule out

Gov. Brown Sees Balanced State Budget

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown promised today he will ask for no new taxes in 1962 and will present a balanced budget.

Speaking at the annual host breakfast for the State Chamber of Commerce, the Democratic governor predicted a substantial upswing in the state's economy in the year ahead matched by a "significant drop" in unemployment.

"I can tell you unequivocally that there will be no request for new taxes in the budget I submit to the next session of the legislature," Brown said.

He said it would be his fourth consecutive balanced budget. In his first year in office in 1959, Brown won passage of a $220 million tax increase program. Since that time, he has held the line on tax increases.

Obviously directing his remarks to Assemblyman Joseph C. Shell, an announced candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination in 1962, Brown told his audience:

"There are voices of confusion which have plucked false estimates from thin air."

Scientists Say Atom Blast Set During Ban Talks

By United Press International

The Kremlin was silent today about the Soviet atomic explosion, but elsewhere across the world the blast resounded in anger, resentment and alarm.

Up to this morning, there had been no Soviet announcement that Russia had resumed the testing of nuclear weapons in central Asia as reported by the United States Friday.

But observers in Moscow expected a Kremlin confirmation at any time. The state-controlled Soviet press built up a tremendous propaganda campaign in an apparent effort to prepare the Russian people for an official announcement.

Neutral Nations Shocked

The White House planned to indict Russia before the United Nations for its action, and delegates to the Belgrade conference of unaligned nations reacted with stunned protests to the Soviet explosion.

Scientists in Europe said detection of the Soviet blast by long-range American equipment indicated the Soviets were preparing the test even while they were negotiating a test ban treaty in Geneva.

President Kennedy was in Hyannis Port, Mass., for the weekend, but he kept remote control tabs on the nuclear situation resulting from Russia's test. He flew to his Cape Cod home after the announcement of the Soviet explosion and a round of conferences on where the United States goes from here now that Russia has decided to end the three-year moratorium on nuclear tests.

Officials in Washington indicated the United States hoped to bring world opinion to bear against Russia through the United Nations. They called the Soviet explosion a flat defiance of the 1958 U.N. General Assembly resolution urging a halt to nuclear tests while treaty negotiations were in progress. The next assembly session begins Sept. 19.

Reds Accuse West
The Soviet press and radio were filled with statements aimed at justifying the Kremlin's decision to end the Soviet-British-U.S. moratorium. The statements stressed the theme that the West was preparing aggression against the Soviet Union.

In Belgrade, the U.S. announcement intensified the air of urgency at the summit meeting of neutral leaders. The announcement came shortly after Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev sent a goodwill message to the conference.

Nehru Fears Soviet Push Toward War

BELGRADE (UPI) — Indian Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru warned today that Russia's new nuclear explosion "has enhanced the danger of war." He urged called on Russia and the United States to negotiate now "in this crisis of human destiny."

In an emergency appeal to the 24-nation conference of unaligned nations, Nehru cautioned that "there is no choice left between negotiations or war."

Nehru spoke after Ghana President Kwame Nkrumah, fresh from talks with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev, called for an East-West summit meeting to settle the Berlin crisis before it lead to war.

Nkrumah said the Soviet nuclear explosion was a "shock which forcibly brings home to us the supreme danger facing mankind."

Nehru, speaking without notes, earnestly pleaded that the presidents and prime ministers meeting here push aside their own problems and throw all their influence into the task of preserving peace.

"If war comes all is lost," Nehru said.

Absolute silence filled the plenum room of the Yugoslav parliament, crowded with more than 200 delegates representing a quarter of the world's population, as Nehru went on.

"This today is the most dangerous situation that has arisen before us in the last 15 years—since the last war," the Indian leader said.

"The danger of war has been enhanced by the decision of the Soviet government to resume nuclear tests," Nehru said.

"I don't know the reasons for their action. But I do know this decision makes the situation much more dangerous and I deeply regret this."

Woman Held In Indio For Double Slaying

INDIO—A former Palm Springs area resident, Ruby Self Garner, 27, was arrested last night for the slaying of her husband and her father-in-law.

The arrest was made here by Captain Homer Hunt and Det. Bill Olsen on a New Mexico warrant.

Mrs. Garner, known in New Mexico as Ruby King, was taken into custody yesterday afternoon while she stood with her ex-husband and two children in front of a downtown hotdog stand.

She was arrested on a warrant issued by the FBI charging unlawful flight from New Mexico to avoid prosecution for murder. She was once a resident of Cathedral City.

The woman is accused of the Aug. 18 murder of J. Russell King, Sr., 63, and his son, Charles King, 38. The Elder King had been shot once in the right temple, and his son had been shot once in the right temple and once in the chest.

Police said the bodies had been dumped on a rock pile about 400 yards from their trailer and covered with a blanket.

Her ex-husband, Lee Garner, 29, whom she was with at the time of her arrest, worked in Indio as a garage mechanic. He also was arrested on a murder warrant and is being detained until New Mexico authorities can be notified.

Chief of Police Pat Cunningham said that the local police believe that Garner has knowledge of the crimes, but that they do not know if he had part in them.

The two children, a boy and a girl, are being held in Riverside Juvenile hall.

News In Brief

RIO DE JANEIRO (UPI) — Congress today invited Vice President Joao Goulart to be sworn in Monday at the capital in Brasilia as a purely symbolic president of Brazil.

If Goulart accepts the presidency under those conditions the political crisis touched off eight days ago by the resignation of President Janio Quadros may be solved.

BERLIN (UPI) — Communist East Germany announced today it had protested the reinforcement of the U.S. Army garrison in Berlin by 1,500 combat-ready troops. American officials ignored the protest.

U.S. officials said they would pay no attention to the protest note and would not answer it because the United States does not recognize the East German regime.

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Air Force announced today that four squadrons of jet fighters are being sent to Europe to take part in NATO maneuvers.

There was speculation that the planes, 72 in all, might be kept in the European theater afterwards to reinforce U. S. units already there. But a Defense Department announcement that the jets will take part in "Exercise checkmate" Sept. 12-14.

He Passed Fat Tips to Make 'Little People Happy'

NEW BRITAIN, Conn. (UPI)—Relatives of the man who gave away $100 tips to waitresses in San Diego, Calif., said today that "Edwin always had a generous nature."

Edwin Axel Carlson, 59, who handed $100 tips to waitresses and gave a sailor $100 to make the "little people happy," explained to San Diego authorities the money was part of a $4,275 inheritance from the estates of his mother, the late Mrs. Amanda Carlson, and his sister, Fanny.

After the death of his mother,

Carlson took up residence with his sister, Mrs. Carl O. Johnson.

Mrs. Johnson said Carlson took his share of the inheritance and left for Florida aboard a bus. She was unaware of his whereabouts after that until she read about the "happy fella" who was making other people happy with the surprise bonuses.

So far, Carlson has bestowed about $1,500 in lavish tips, and Mrs. Johnson said she would attempt to contact her brother to persuade him to call a halt.

Space Capsule Recovered in South Pacific

HONOLULU (UPI) — The 300-pound gold-plated Discoverer XXIX capsule was taken aboard the destroyer USS Epperson in early morning darkness today, 13 hours after three parachuting skin divers retrieved it from the ocean.

The Epperson rendezvoused with the skindivers' bobbing life raft at 7:15 a.m. (EST) and took the capsule aboard at 3:54 a. m. Hawaii time. Twenty-seven minutes later the skindivers were aboard and the destroyer headed back for Pearl Harbor where it was due to arrive some time tonight.

Maniac Threatens President

Police Guard Doubled Near Hyannis Port

HYANNIS PORT, Mass. (UPI) — Extra security precautions were taken today to guard President Kennedy from a dangerous, heavily armed mental patient who has threatened to kill the Chief Executive.

State police doubled patrols on roads leading to the so-called Kennedy compound here and troops were stationed at the Bourne and Sagamore bridges, the only two land routes onto the cape.

No unusual precautions seemed in effect at the President's summer home. But a Secret Service spokesman made it clear that "appropriate steps" had been taken.

State troopers were also stationed at Barnstable Airport near here and at Logan International Airport in Boston to observe passengers on incoming flights. The wanted man was identified as Howard C. Cooper, 48, a former resident of Brookline, a Boston suburb. He was believed en route here from Texas, according to State Police Lt. James Cleary.

Cleary said Cooper "has made a statement regarding killing the President." He was believed armed with a .45 caliber automatic and a revolver and Cleary warned in a bulletin that Cooper was "extremely dangerous."

The Secret Service said Cooper escaped from a state mental hospital at Austin, Tex. more than 16 years ago and since that time had worked in Massachusetts and Maine until, it is believed, he returned to Texas recently.

Exactly why an alert was issued at this time was not made clear by authorities. Assistant White House Press Secretary Andrew Hatcher said he would give no information on the matter.

Sought Russian Visa
The state police said Cooper applied for a visa to the Soviet Union last year but the document was denied. He purchased a 1954 blue sedan early this year but state police said his driver's license had been suspended. They were not able to say on what grounds or when this occurred.

Brookline authorities said Cooper's landlady, whom they did not identify, told them he had worked as a dishwasher at Massachusetts Institute of Technology's top secret Lincoln laboratory and in Maine. They said Cooper had no criminal record while living in that community.

Cooper was described as about 5 feet 8 inches tall, weighing about 178 pounds and of medium complexion and build.

A THREE-LAYER ONE

That Military Secret Came from White Cake

By STANLEY HALL
LOS ANGELES (UPI)—A cake told me a military secret Thursday. That's right, a cake—a white, three-layer one that's better than an "in" at the Pentagon.
It had seven small missiles on the side of it and was topped by a four-inch high icing missile that bent a little in the middle.
Inscribed in shocking red icing was the tipoff: "Good Luck Titan."
Assuming that even the best of cakes go stale within a week, I figured it must have been ordered for a celebration within the next seven days.
What would they celebrate unless it would be a launch of the long-range Titan missile?
You see, most missile writers have known for some time that a Titan was scheduled to be launched from a new kind of 140-foot deep silo at Vandenberg Air Force Base in late summer.

But all the Air Force would say was: "We're following the regular policy of no advance publicity." Officers hinted all sorts of dark things might happen if the date of the launch got out.
Despite their precautions — and there are many — they missed classifying this cake. It was made at a bakery in Farmers' Market which specializes in fancy, decorated cakes.
Calls Bakery
I called the bakery to see who ordered the cake.
"Who did you say you're from," said the lady there. "Oh, well I don't know if I can tell you."
She later decided she couldn't, so I called the Air Force.
An officer muttered under his breath when I told him of my find.
"I wonder why they sent all the way down here — its almost 200 miles—for that cake?"
"I don't know," I told him. "But what about the launch? Sometime next week?"
"Yeah," he said, "I still can't tell you the date, but that'd be a pretty good guess."
I wonder, could the Air Force classify a cake? Top secret. To be eaten only by authorized personnel.

Jacqueline Cochran Hits New Speed Mark

EDWARDS AFB, Calif. (UPI) — Jacqueline Cochran, the world's fastest aviatrix, flashed over a 311-mile course at 659.6 miles an hour to set her second international women's speed record within a week, it was disclosed here.

Northrop Corporation, in disclosing the 55-year-old flier's mark Friday, said Miss Cochran flew the course Thursday in a T38 jet trainer.

The jet trainer was the same plane Miss Cochran used on Aug. 24 to set an 844.2-mph. record on a 9-mile course, equivalent to a straightaway.

Her mark Thursday, based on initial data recorded by National Aeronautics Association officials, broke her own accepted record of 590.321 m.p.h. set in 1953.

The Indio, Calif., flier, who got her pilot's license 29 years ago, kept within a precisely defined air corridor. Miss Cochran flew from Edwards over Death Valley to a point just south of Beatty, Nev., then west toward Mt. Whitney, turning south at Owens Lake for the return leg to Edwards.

As he did on last week's flight, Air Force Col. Charles (Chuck) Yeager, first man to fly faster than sound, piloted the chase plane.

Miss Cochran, the wife of financier Floyd Odlum, said earlier this year she believed "women will go into space shortly after men do." She recalled that she herself crossed the sound barrier 3 1/2 years after Yeager.

Nixon Gambles with Future

HOT MAD Vann Vickery curses a UPI photographer in Monroe, N. C., as he is arrested for pushing a Negro youth down the steps of the Monroe Court House (reflected in the

By RAYMOND LAHR
WASHINGTON (UPI) — Richard M. Nixon is facing a big decision which compels him to gamble with his future in national politics.

He has promised a decision by the end of this month on whether he will be a candidate for governor of California. Most of the advice he is getting from national and California Republican leaders urges him to run and the political odds-makers believe that he will run.

Nixon will be taking big risks, whatever he decides. Defeat by Gov. Edmund G. Brown, the incumbent Democrat, would make him a political has-been and an elder statesman before his 50th birthday.

As a candidate for governor, he would no doubt be accused of trying to use the Sacramento statehouse as a springboard for another try for the White House in 1964.

Two Sides

Some Republicans urging him to go for governor have argued that he would have to commit himself to a four-year term and eliminate himself as a White House contender in 1964. Others contend that an impressive record during two years in the governorship would compel the GOP to consider him in 1964.

How well he would fare as governor is one of the big unknowns. The Democrats are expected to retain control of the legislature, regardless of the outcome of the contest for governor.

And after 14 years in Congress and the vice presidency, Nixon is more interested in foreign policy and national issues than in high-way routes, mental hospital budgets and California water problems.

Yet the governorship might make it easier for him to keep himself in public view by providing the forum he now lacks as a Los Angeles attorney and titular leader of the GOP.

Among all the gambling "ifs" is the possibility that Nixon's election to two terms as governor might leave him in the best spot to seek the presidency in 1968 if President Kennedy wins a second term.

Other Republicans regarded as potential candidates for the 1964 presidential nomination have no problems like Nixon. Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is heavily favored to win reelection against a Democratic party which now appears bent on self-destruction in New York. Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona can carry on his crusades from the Senate floor and as a traveling evangelist for conservatism in his job as chairman of the Republican Senatorial Campaign Committee.

Can Losers Win?

As a presidential candidate for 1964, Nixon would have to overcome the traditional aversion to renomination of losers. The GOP broke with this custom only with Thomas E. Dewey, who was defeated twice. The Democrats renominated Grover Cleveland, William Jennings Bryan and Adlai E. Stevenson after they had lost presidential elections, but Cleveland was the only winner.

After control of the national House of Representatives, the California governorship is one of the chief prizes sought by Republicans in the 1962 mid-term elections. Others will be governorships in the pivotal states of New York, now presumed safe for the GOP, and of Pennsylvania and Ohio, which now have Democratic governors.

Document From 1947 Refutes Russ Claim Joao Goulart Political Coat One of Many Colors

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The State Department today made public for the first time a 1947 Soviet document in which it said Russia formally conceded Allied rights for civilian air travel to Berlin.

The document, dated Feb. 5, 1947, was a Soviet government report to the U.S., British, French and Russian foreign ministers who were meeting in Moscow at that time.

Russia charged two weeks ago in a note to the Western Allies that the Berlin air corridors originally were meant only for Allied military traffic. The note said the corridors were being abused by civilian planes bringing in "provocative" persons.

East German officials also have charged in the past two weeks that Allied civilian air flights to Berlin are "illegal" and would be stopped after Russia signs a peace treaty with East Germany.

The 1947 Soviet document described 1945 meetings of the Allied Control Council for Germany which set up the air corridors and in which Russia participated.

The document said: "A decision was taken after quadripartite agreement had been reached, to allot three air corridors for unrestricted flights by Allied aircraft over the Soviet zone of occupation in Germany."

U.S. officials said that while this did not specifically say "civilian aircraft" it was clear that the whole document concerned civilian air travel.

At that time, the three Allies all were operating civilian flights to Berlin, and were squabbling with Russia over adding civilian flights of other countries. Russia said no.

Joao Belchior Goulart, the man over whom Brazil's presidential controversy rages, wears a political coat of many colors.

He has made speeches extolling the undying friendship between Brazil and the United States.

Yet less than two weeks ago during a visit to Red China, he heard the mayor of Shanghai assail United States "imperialism" as the common enemy of Brazil and Red China, and replied: "Our views and those of the Brazilian government and people are in complete unanimity with the outstanding mayor."

He has praised Red China's Mao Tse-Tung for his "immense contributions to mankind's emancipation and civilization and to the people of the world."

"Poor Boy" Image
Although an immensely wealthy rancher, known in Rio's smart night clubs and possessor of a showplace home in Rio, he seeks to create the image of himself as a country boy.

He once said "there is no room for communism in Brazil," but he has accepted Communist political support and has been accused of coddling them in the labor unions from which he draws his chief support.

Shortly before leaving for a visit to the United States, he said: "We are against the Communists and we fight them. But to fight them effectively we have to give more to the people than the Communists promise."

And it was apparently to carry out this philosophy while serving as vice president under President Juscelino Kubitschek that he became a prime mover for the successive increases in national wage minimums that contributed heavily to Brazil's runaway inflation.

Against this personable man of undoubted political talents, is ranged a large section of Brazil's armed forces led by aging Marshal Odilio Denys.

The armed forces suspect both Goulart and his left-wing advisers.

Denys has served as war minister under both Kubitschek and Janio Quadros whose sudden resignation a week ago brought about the present crisis.

Denys and his armed forces supporters have called for a change in Brazil's constitution in order to declare the presidency vacant and clear the way for new elections.

It is a controversial position for Denys who in 48 years of soldiering won a reputation for vigorous defense of his country's laws and constitution and his firm belief in civilian rule.

It was he who in 1955 blocked an attempt to prevent Kubitschek from taking the office he had won in free elections. Prominently aligned also with Kubitschek in that fight was General and then War Minister Henrique Teixeira Lott.

Now both Lott, who is under arrest, and Kubitschek have declared themselves for Goulart's legal succession, in opposition to Denys.

It is an unhappy situation for Brazil, a country with an enviable record for stability and inward peace.

Whatever his motives, Quadros did his countrymen no favor when without real explanation he deserted his office.

Tourists Spend Over $83 Million

Tourists spent $83,618,000 in the Southland during the peak Summer month of July, the All-Year Club reported today. This was 5.1 per cent ahead of last year.

The money was spent, mostly in retail trade, by 511,000 visitors from out of state, according to Horace W. Brower, president of the community tourist advertising organization.

Last year, the three months of the summer season brought the Southland $222,141,000 in tourist spendings. For the year as a whole the spendings were over $715 million, an all-time record.

PEACE CORPS DOOMED TO DEFEAT, FORMER COUNTERSPY PREDICTS

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—President Kennedy's Peace Corps is doomed to defeat, a former counter-spy predicted.

The Peace Corps will fail because its members are amateurs pitted against Communism's professional agents, Herbert Philbrick said.

The former Federal Bureau of Investigation counter-spy said Communists are "jubilant" over efforts to muzzle American military leaders. He said Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Arkansas, was "one of the leading dupes" in the move to curb political remarks by the military.

plans for a Freedom Academy to train Americans in fighting the Cold War.

"The academy would offer training and instruction in the art of cold warfare, the war we are losing," Philbrick said.

The famed airplane designer and author of "Victory Through Air Power" said the United States is "fumbling the ball" in the missile and space races. He called for a vast speedup in America's offensive missile program.

He warned American failure to resume atomic testing in the face of new Communist tests would be "national suicide."

Sand Blast Meet Set For Springs

A special Assembly Interim Committee on transportation and commerce has been scheduled in Palm Springs for Nov. 17, according to a report from Assemblyman Gordon Cologne.

Palm Springs attorney Saul Ruskin, who released the notice of the committee meeting, said that the Assembly group would hold hearings with respect to sand blast damage experienced by property owners in the eastern section of Palm Springs.

Brinkley Is Working Up Weekly Show

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—TV newsman David Brinkley—the girls call him Twinkly Brinkley—promises he will not give away washing machines on his new half-hour show.

"It won't be a news show. Every station in the country has a news program of its own at that hour every night (10:30 p.m. EST), and the news would be old by that time."

"And I won't do a weekly review of the news. That's just a rehash of everything viewers have heard before."

Neither will Dave play the banjo, sing, dance, tell jokes or talk about his horse and airplane like Arthur Godfrey does. Brinkley doesn't happen to own either a horse or plane. And friends say his singing voice leaves something to be desired.

So here's a man with 30 minutes of NBC network time to fill beginning Oct. 11, and he's working overtime to get things organized.

Program Ideas

Some of the ideas Brinkley and his staff of 12 are working on:

A critical examination of the British press.

The boomtown of Cocoa Beach near the Cape Canaveral space activities.

A story of the 1961 cowboy and what he really is like.

"The British press story has me worked up," Brinkley said in a soft Southern accent that had a bit of steel behind it.

"When we shot Virgil Grisom into space the British papers said we shouldn't have done it because, 'there was nothing to be gained.' They said it was risky and silly."

"Then the head of our Space Administration began answering the English papers. In effect he was answering their editorials. Why the hell should we bother with them? With a couple of exceptions British newspapers are lousy. I'm going to point this out."

From all indications Brinkley is going to hit hard whenever he feels like it. Even his own medium, TV, is not safe.

"My new show is the type of thing television can do best," he said. "Entertainment—Westerns, thrillers, drama—can be done better on the stage or in movies."

"Our show (The David Brinkley Journal) will be mostly live with film and tape segments. Right now there are five camera crews working all over the world for our material."

"I think it will be a different kind of TV show, and I think I'll enjoy doing it."

WOMEN of The Desert

AT ST. PAUL the Apostle Church in Westwood, Cynthia Patricia Flower, of Palm Springs and Bel Air, became the bride of Todd Huntington of Bel Air. The couple will honeymoon in Honolulu and Kauai. (Ray Huff Photo)

Vows Said Today

Today at St. Paul the Apostle's Church in Westwood, Cynthia Patricia Flower, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ludlow Flower Jr. of Palm Springs and Bel Air, became the bride of Todd Huntington of Bel Air.

A cousin to the bride, newly-ordained Father Frank Freeman flew from Denver to officiate at the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a Bianchi gown of silk organza and French chantilly lace. The portrait neckline on the empire-styled gown was embroidered with seed pearls and crystals, as was the chapel train on the very full skirt. Secured by a coronet of lace, her illusion veil was finger-tip length, and her tear drop bouquet was fashioned from orchids and lily of the valley.

The bride was attended by Sheila Ann Mahoney, maid of honor; Diane Crommer, Dorian Freeman, Gayle Rodda, and Patricia von Morpurgo, bridesmaids; and Mila Flower, Clare and Claudia Huntington, junior bridesmaids and sisters to the bride and groom, respectively.

Wearing ice green silk - satin gowns with bouffant skirts, the bridesmaids carried bouquets created from flowers in fall colors.

The bride's sister, Amber Flower, acted as flower girl and wore a rose-budded veil and a bouffant dress of green and wood tones. Best man to the groom was Joseph Lisi, and acting as ushers

SUNNY SIDE

A Palm Desert landmark, Shadow Mountain Club is enjoying a facelifting this summer. A club which caters to the entire clan, Shadow Mountain's outdoor facilities were enjoyed most of the summer. For the family that plays together, there were weenie roasts, swim meets, and Thursday night under-the-stars movies.

After a brief close-up the club reopened yesterday. A photographer's favorite - setting, the famous eight-shaped pool has been refinished in a lovely blue that will tone its waters.

From morning 'til late in the evening, members and guests can enjoy good food at the pool-side snack bar. Good-at-the-grill Daddys can play chef and charcoal steaks for the family.

When golf pro Bob and Millie Pinnell return from their northern vacation in mid-September, the newly - enlarged pro shop and adjoining lounge will be opened for member approval.

The completely redecorated main dining room will be unveiled to members, when they attend the informal opening and buffet dinner on Oct. 14. The scheme of things will be gold ... in shades pale and deep.

SMC golfers will be proud of the Golf Terrace Dining Room opening in late October. The room derives its name from the wide terraces which will border the new room and shop. While dining or relaxing on the terraces, members will be enjoying a golf course and mountain view.

All told, the face liftings are worth waiting for.

Dorothy and Cher Cohagan are motoring through Canada and loving it. They write that the miles of water-view day after day is a pleasant and cooling change of scenery. Their nights are described as "blanketed" ... that is a change! Their impressions seem to prove that it's not the height of temperature that counts, but the degree of wetness.

Say they, 85 degrees in Montreal felt much warmer than 110 degrees in Palm Springs (I'd like to find out for myself).

Showing her mettle is Margie Baron, who has returned from Golden Door with platinum hair and a copper tan. As hair colors and tans are off-again, on - again, so is Margie. She and Jack have already packed-up again ... this time for Mexico.

Another Door returnee is Hildy, who has enjoyed a luxuriously golden summer between Lido and Hawaii. She'll be back Monday to complete the Women's Dept. picture, but shows signs of the Wahine Dept. influence. Her phone greeting to me this week was not the usual 40-state hello, but a 50th-state Aloha!

The Juillet (July) issue of the beautiful Swiss slick "L'Illustré" is covered by a Coachella-valley-promoting color pic and pictures a desert-type gal, Sandy Kay. Taken by journalist - photographer Leah Lourie, the cover shows Sandy stopping by a Hwy. 111 fruit stand to inspect C.V. grapefruit. The stand owner either can't spell, or thinks his fruit as valuable as chinchilla ... sign says Coachella grapefruit.

Early-rising D. J. Frank Day enjoyed sleeping past five, when Katie, Sandy and Frank spent two weeks on Catalina Isle. On arrival, Frank took a bit of ribbing from Catalina landmark and life-guard, Duke. Said he, "Here comes a fellow from Palm Springs here to get a tan" ... and Frank did.

Speaking of Katie Day and with Labor Day quickly approaching, it's time to mention her believe-it-or-not story. Katie's two children were born four years apart ... on different dates ... but both were aptly born on Labor Day.

Matador Jaime Bravo and his TV-acting wife, Ann Robinson, arrived desert-side last night. Purpose ... to escort aficionados Frank, Janis and Dennis Bogert; the Dick Weisses; Bev Fretz; and Blake and Ray Corliss, to Sunday's bull session in San Luis. Jaime will head the line-up of

In my case, it's a reporter with dysentery and the feed-back problem.

The feed-back problem is what faces a reporter when he appears on TV with his account of a running story, then goes back to the scene of the story and is recognized. At that point, the feed-back sets in. The reporter has lost his anonymity; his appearance on TV has "fed back" to the people who are making the news and their attitude toward the reporter changes.

Example: A small town where one set of people are pounding lumps on another set of people. You make notes on the trouble while your partner, the cameraman, films it. Then, off to the local TV station where you put yourself and the film on the air, on the cross-country network air, which also, alas, usually services the town in which the story is located.

Recognized By Rioters

Then you go back to the scene of the story and everyone involved says, ahah, you are the out-of-town bum (or Communist or fascist or other things, depending on the locale) who put on the pictures of us beating up on our neighbors. That, friends, is feed-back.

The feed-back problem is getting a shade more complicated now because I have been assigned to a job that keeps me on TV for 10 hours a week, on the NBC-TV "Today" program. What this will do for feed-back has yet to be fully determined, but I find that I am recognized by more people these days than just my wife, children and creditors, which used to be the case.

As for my personal life, feed-back has its interesting side. I was recently discussing the "Today" show with a man who was a friend of the producer of the program. The producer's friend turned to me and said, tell him I think that new guy is going to work out all right. You know who the new guy is?

Me.

Feed-back is where you find it.

Words by the Prophet Isaiah Are Featured

"Ye are my witnesses, saith the Lord, that I am God." These words from the prophet Isaiah (43:12) are the Golden Text of the Lesson-Sermon on "Man" in all Christian Science churches on Sunday.

Strong assurance of man's God-given right to conquer every form of evil will highlight the sermon.

Scriptural selections include these striking words of Paul to the Romans (8:35,37), "Who shall separate us from the love of Christ? shall tribulation, or distress, or persecution, or famine, or nakedness, or peril, or sword? . . . Nay, in all these things we are more than conquerors through him that loved us."

Mary Baker Eddy declares in a correlative passage from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," "Spiritual man is the image or idea of God, an idea which cannot be lost nor separated from its divine Principle. When the evidence before the material senses yielded to spiritual sense, the apostle declared that nothing could alienate him from God, from the sweet sense and presence of Life and Truth" (p. 303).

DAN AND MILDRED KAMMEIER, shown with their two sons, Martin and Hans, have taken over the duties of music director and organist for the Palm Springs Community Church. Below, Mrs. Kammeier is at the console of an organ, at which she is an accomplished artist.

Husband-Wife Team Serves PS Church

Dan and Mildred Kammeier, formerly of the Los Angeles South Bay area, assumed full-time duties as music director - organist team for the Palm Springs Community Church effective Sept. 1.

Kammeier has had wide experience as minister of music and as a voice-teacher. Mrs. Kammeier is an organist, pianist and teacher.

Kammeier has been minister of music for three years in Palos Verdes Neighborhood Church where he organized and conducted five choirs ranging from Third Graders to adults. He has written and directed numerous religious plays and pageants, which have been presented in New York and California Cathedral-type churches.

Mrs. Kammeier was organist at Palos Verdes Neighborhood Church for several years and for the Vermont Presbyterian Church, Los Angeles, the last three and one-half years.

She is a graduate of Redlands University receiving Honors in Organ. She has studied privately under Dr. Leslie Spelman, Clarence Mader, and Dr. Robert Baker, and was awarded the Degree of "Associate of the American Guild of Organists" by the noted organist Marcel Dupre, in New York City.

Mrs. Kammeier also was privileged to dedicate several new organs including Lancaster, Pa. Presbyterian and Grace Methodist Church of Staten Island, New York.

Mrs. Kammeier has given taped recitals over Radio KCBH FM, and has performed on the famous Wanamaker (New York City) Organ and at the First Congregational Cathedral in Los Angeles.

Kammeier, a graduate of Westminster Choir College, Princeton, New Jersey, served as Assistant to the Division Chaplain in the South Pacific. He conducted singing by large groups of from 500 to 1,000 soldiers at a time so that the morale would be high in combat areas. He led a group of men who "island hopped" singing for the many Sunday Services led by the Division Chaplain.

After the war he completed work for the degree of Bachelor of Music, meanwhile developing choir programs in churches in Pennsylvania and New York. In the past eight years he has directed the music in churches of the Los Angeles Bay area.

It is the plan of the Community Church to develop, through the services of the Kammeiers, a unified sacred music program that will reach all ages.

RELIGION IN AMERICA

'Freedom' Vital to Protestants

EDITOR'S NOTE: The weekly "Religion in America" column by Louis Cassels is being devoted to a series of reports on the history, doctrines and practices of Protestants.

By LOUIS CASSELS

United Press International
"Freedom of conscience" is a fundamental principle of Protestantism.

If you ask a Protestant what he means by this time-hallowed phrase, his answer probably will go something like this:

"The Roman Catholic Church is an authoritarian institution. It tells its members what to believe. But Protestants are convinced that genuine faith can stem only from a voluntary, personal decision. Therefore, they insist that each individual has the right and duty to follow his conscience — in other words, to exercise his private judgment — in matters of religion."

Many Catholics understand private judgment to mean that a Protestant can believe "whatever he pleases." The implication is that Protestant churches are indifferent toward doctrine, and encourage their members to believe anything they find comforting and convenient.

This is not the case. Most Protestant churches have well-defined bodies of doctrine, and some of them have demonstrated historically that they can be fully as intolerant as any Catholic inquisitor in dealing with deviants from their official teachings.

While Protestant theologians would deny the Catholic charge that private judgment inevitably leads to religious anarchy, they would acknowledge that Protestantism has paid a high price for its devotion to freedom of conscience.

The price has been fragmentation. Ever since the Reformation,

Protestant bodies have been dividing, sub-dividing and re-dividing over doctrinal and other issues.

The 1961 Yearbook of American Churches lists 224 organized Protestant denominations and sects in the United States.

The Lutheran churches came into existence in Germany during the early 16th Century under the leadership of Martin Luther. Lutherans have always put special emphasis on the Scriptures as the sole source of sound Christian doctrine, and on the belief that salvation is a free gift of God rather than something man can earn by good works.

The Reformed or Presbyterian churches arose from Reformation activity in Switzerland, France, Holland and Scotland. Their spiritual father is John Calvin. They have contributed to Protestant traditions a strong emphasis on the sovereignty of God, and a form of church government by elected representatives known as presbyters or elders.

The English expression of the Reformation was the Anglican Communion of Churches which is represented in the United States by the Episcopal Church. Anglicans have sought to be a "bridge church," combining the best features of historical Catholicism and Protestantism.

The "free churches" developed out of conscientious dissent from the doctrines and practices of the original Reformation churches which had achieved "established" status in various European countries.

Formerly Anglicans

The Methodists, for example, were originally a group within the Anglican Church. So were the Congregationalists (whose ancestors were known as Puritans when they landed on America's shores) and the Quakers.

The Methodists have been noted for their stress on personal experience of salvation, and their zeal for social reform. The Congregationalists have upheld the principle of democratic church government through congregational meetings. The Quakers have borne a special witness to simplicity of life, pacifism and the doctrine of "the inner light."

The Baptists, who trace their antecedents to persecuted minorities which existed outside the established church long before the

Americans Are Shifting Their Values Upward

By PETER J. HAYES
MENLO PARK, Calif. (UPI) — Status symbols . . . togetherness . . . conformity.

These catchwords often used to describe modern American society may be obsolete before the end of the sixties.

A study by the Stanford Research Institute indicates that the values of Americans are shifting radically — and upward — as middle and upper income groups expand.

Researchers list a number of areas of shifting values, beginning with self-betterment. This goal has most frequently been sought in the past decade by acquiring status symbols of "success." These have usually been material, such as fancy automobiles.

But SRI researchers say the 1960s will see the probable emergence of a large, prosperous pace setting group of families who will reject materialism.

"To them, status attainment through consumption will be so easy as to be pointless," SRI reported.

"Rather, they are likely to turn to intellectual activities, to experimentation and variety in experience, to work in the public interest, and to the pursuit of excellence in general."

In the new decade the strong accent on "the family" that has developed since World War II will be heightened even more. More money and more time will be given to family-centered activities.

"The uniqueness and independence of family members may be more stressed. Also, this attitude suggests that women and children will have more to say about how money and time are spent."

Along with family values, there will be a growing emphasis on recreation and leisure.

The role of women is due to undergo continuing change. More and more housewives will work, seek higher education and achieve equal footing with men in all fields.

Again, large groups are turning away from mass conformity. There is wide acceptance of radically different automobiles, exotic foods and avant garde literature, music and art.

These changing values are expected to drastically change the sociological face of America. At the very least, Americans will have greater overall astuteness, foresight and knowledge.

Ike's Old Team Didn't Leave the Administrative Field With Him

By DICK WEST

WASHINGTON (UPI) — For a moment as I was reading the newspaper I thought that newspaper Tuesday I thought that maybe I had picked up one of last year's editions by mistake.

The thing that caused this temporary confusion was the published list of the day's congressional committee hearings, which I peruse each morning before going to work.

The schedule looked normal enough until I came to the listing for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. Its witnesses, the paper said, would be Henry C. Lodge, Alfred M. Gruenther, Thomas S. Gates Jr., and Christian A. Herter.

Speaking these names over softly to myself, I found that they sounded vaguely familiar. Then, after turning them over in my mind a few times, they began to fall into place.

On Ike's Team

Lodge, Gruenther, Gates and Herter, I suddenly remembered, were prominent members of the Eisenhower administration as ambassador to the U.N., NATO commander, defense secretary and secretary of state.

After glancing at the newspaper dateline to make certain I had a current issue, I started to wonder what was bringing them back to Capitol Hill. A Democratic-controlled Congress doesn't normally do much consulting with out-of-office Republicans.

At first I speculated that perhaps someone had neglected to tell the foreign relations committee that the administration had changed hands. The committee, being so engrossed in foreign affairs, might not have noticed what was happening at home last January.

It then occurred to me that possibly the committee was engaging in some sort of "Does Macy tell Gimbel?" experiment between the previous administration and its successor.

As it turned out, not to prolong the suspense any longer, the erstwhile Ike men were returning to the witness chair to lend bipartisan support to a bill to create a new disarmament agency.

Lodge Testifies

When I dropped in on the hearings, Lodge was telling the committee that the bill should give the director of the proposed agency direct access to the President. But Sen. Albert Gore (D-Tenn.) questioned whether this could be accomplished by legislation.

"Congress could pass a bill giving the director a direct line to the President, but there is no way to require the President to be on the other end," Gore pointed out.

This may be true, but I don't think the committee needs to worry about it. Since it was President Kennedy who proposed creating the disarmament agency, he presumably would be willing to talk to its director.

Furthermore, you'll recall, when the President answered his private phone not long ago, he found himself connected with someone who was trying to call an animal hospital.

Living Is Topic For Dr. Barnhill

"Living on Tip Toe" is the sermon topic of the rector, the Rev. Dr. Fredrick A. Barnhill, Sunday morning at the 9:30 o'clock service at St. Paul's in the Desert Episcopal Church.

There will be a celebration of the Holy Communion with the Rector as celebrant.

Labor Day Sermon Set

A Labor Day sermon will be delivered by the Rev. James W. Arnold, pastor, in the Community Church of Cathedral City Sunday.

The sermon topic will be "Our Labor of Love." The text is from II Corinthians 1:12. "There is one thing we are proud of; our conscience assures us that in our dealings with our fellow men, and above all in our dealing with you, our conduct has been governed by a devout and godly sincerity, by the grace of God and not by worldly wisdom."

The worship service is held at 9:30 a.m. Sunday Church School also begins at 9:30.

A covered-dish dinner will be held at the church Wednesday at 6:30 p.m.

Dodgers Edge Braves 4-3 On 9th Inning Hit

MILWAUKEE (UPI) — Every time it looks like the Los Angeles Dodgers will fade completely out of the National League picture they somehow win one or two or three.

Then fans, aroused by hopes and goaded by anxiety, gnash their teeth in anger as the Dodgers just as suddenly fold when they reach the game that could raise them into the lead.

This tantalizing trick was continued by Los Angeles Friday night against Milwaukee in County Stadium. They won, 4-3, scoring a run in the ninth inning for the margin.

The victory moved them within 2½ games of first-place Cincinnati, or exactly where they had been before they lost the night before.

Can't Go On

But this little maneuver of making nervous wrecks out of the fans and management can't continue forever.

As the Dodgers entered this afternoon's finale with the Braves and prepared to return home to open against San Francisco Sunday, they had but 28 games remaining to play.

Beginning with Sunday's opener in the Coliseum the Dodgers are scheduled to play seven straight against the Giants. This week-long bout both in Los Angeles and the bay city should just about determine where the Dodgers are going.

Sandy Koufax was on the mound today for Los Angeles, and the 15-game winner had all the pressure on him as he pitched against Milwaukee. The Reds, who haven't lost a game to Philadelphia this season, met the Phillies today.

Morgan Puts Angels 6-4

Count On A's

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Tom Morgan, a 31-year-old relief pitcher, bounced around in the American League with the New York Yankees, Detroit Tigers and Washington Senators in an undistinguished baseball career, but he has turned out to be a real gem for the Los Angeles Angels.

In a relief role Friday, the round-shouldered Morgan who's known to his mates as "ploughboy" because he's the plodding type and has a dry sense of humor, pitched the Angels to a 6-4 win over the Kansas City Athletics.

Morgan took over for starter wood Sullivan swung at the first ball and hit into a double-play, ending the inning. Morgan went on to finish the game in a 4 2-3 inning stint, giving up only three hits and no runs. He got his seventh win of the season against two defeats.

He now has an earned run average of 2.60—a very respectable mark considering that it was 4.50 early in the season.

Pressure, Odds Mount on M-M HR Record Tries

NEW YORK (UPI)—The odds are beginning to swing against New York Yankee sluggers Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle in their efforts to equal or surpass Babe Ruth's all time record of 60 home runs in one season.

Neither connected in the Yankees' 1-0 victory over the Detroit Tigers Friday night—New York's 133rd game of the season. With 51 homers, Maris is still six games ahead of the Ruth 1927 pace but Mantle's 48 homers leave him only one game ahead of the pace.

The comparison becomes increasingly deceptive as the season continues because Ruth hit 17 homers in September, including 10 in the Yankees final 16 games, in his record 1927 season.

Here is how the two Yankee sluggers stand with Ruth's record:

Hm.	Runs	Gms.	Gms.	Ahd
Maris	51	133	6
Mantle	48	133	1
Ruth	51	139

49ers 'Shotgun' Rams 38-20, With Kilmer in Lead

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Los Angeles Rams football fans, about as fickle as any, had a new hero to cheer today—and he isn't even on the team.

The 42,558 spectators watching the Rams lose their second exhibition game in a row, this one by a score of 38-20 to the San Francisco Forty Niners Friday night, needed some way to vent their feelings aside from the continuous boos for the home team.

They did it by cheering for a local hero, Bill Kilmer, rookie quarterback of the Forty Niners. Kilmer, who led the nation in total offense last season at UCLA, returned for the first time as a pro Friday night.

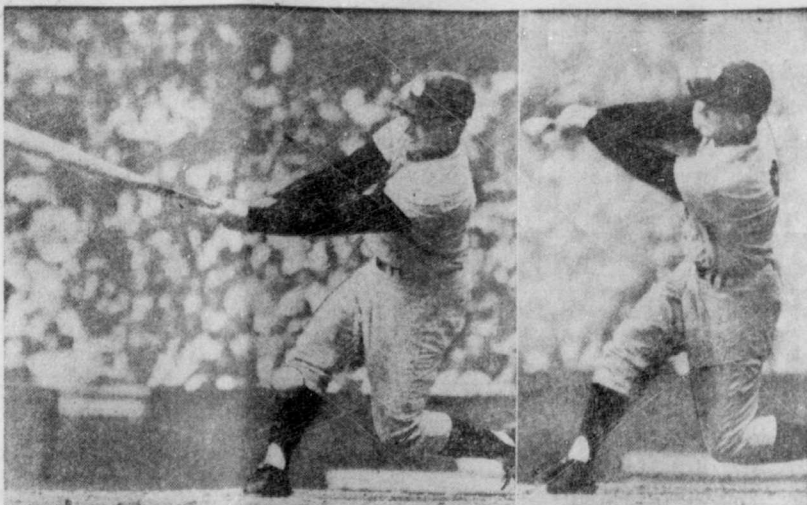

Passes for Two

Spurred on by fans who were wishing he had been drafted by the Rams, Kilmer triggered the Forty Niners' shotgun offense for two touchdowns and set up a third.

He passed 66 yards to Bernie Casey for one score and 10 yards to Monte Stickles for the other.

Playing the deep man in the shotgun—or spread—formation he was equally as potent on the ground. Getting his first real chance after appearing briefly in San Francisco's earlier games, Kilmer ran for 67 yards in seven carries for a 9.5 average.

The Rams? Well, it looks like a bad season. The troubles that plagued them in last week's loss to the Cleveland Browns were intensified against San Francisco. The defense was befuddled and the offense erratic.

FAMED FOLLOW THROUGH of Yankee HR leader Roger Maris, now 6 games ahead of Babe Ruth's 1927 September blazing finale, must continue as pressure mounts, if he beats the Bambino's 60 homers in a season.

Maris, Mickey Mantle both could crack the record but both are now lagging behind impressive leads they had on Ruth pace in early August.

Yanks Blank Tigers 1-0 For Opener in Crucial AL Series

United Press International

One bad pitch—and a game and perhaps a pennant go down the drain.

That's the sad lament of Don Mossi and the Detroit Tigers today after the New York Yankees scored a 1-0 victory in the opener of their crucial three-game series and moved 2 games ahead in the American League race.

Mossi hung a collective 0-for-8 horseshell on homer-hitters Roger Maris and Mickey Mantle Friday night but he also hung a curve for Bill Skowron with two out in the ninth inning and it cost him the game.

Skowron slashed it into left field for a single that scored Elston Howard and sent 65,566 fans home with the conviction that the Yankees just don't lose the "big ones."

"I never pitched a better game," moaned Mossi, who suffered his fourth defeat against 14 victories. "The only bad pitch I made was the one Skowron hit."

Arroyo Gets 12th

Whitey Ford, Bud Daley and Luis Arroyo collaborated in a seven-hitter for the Yankees with Arroyo picking up his 12th win.

Ford retired with a strained hip muscle after 4 2-3 innings and Daley continued the shutout pitching through the eighth when he left for a pinch-hitter.

The Los Angeles Dodgers cut the idle Cincinnati Reds' National League lead to 2 games with the San Francisco Giants shaded the Chicago Cubs, 4-3, and the St. Louis Cardinals topped the Pittsburgh Pirates, 8-4, in other N.L. action.

Three-Way Tie Carded in Dallas Golf Opener

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI) — Johnny Pott is at it again on his favorite golf hunting ground—the Oak Cliff Country Club, host of the $30,000 Dallas Open golf tournament.

As the field teed off to start the second round of the tourney today, the 26-year-old former Louisiana State collegiate star was off to a running start in defense of the crown he won here a year ago. He was tied with host pro Earl Stewart Jr., and Arnold Palmer with three-under par 67s on the scoreboard.

It was on this same hilly, 6,800-yard, windswept par 35-35-70 oak cliff layout that Pott broke the log jam and cracked through to his first tour championship in a playoff with Bo Wininger and Ted Kroll.

Pott's 35-32-67, fashioned with the aid of three birdies in a row on the back nine, was already on the scoreboard when the gallery-favorites came up to the final green with Palmer three under par and Stewart two under.

Durable Conerly Sees Top Pro Football Year

NEW YORK (UPI) — Sport, even in the whitewashed atmosphere of the amateurs, is a hardhearted business whenever there is a price on admissions.

Those who count the "take" demand the best obtainable in the talent department. They live by a cash register rule under which sentiment survives only as long as an athlete's ability to produce.

Which makes amazing creatures of such ancient performers as Satchel Paige, Archie Moore—and a fellow like Charlie Conerly.

Conerly, in a way, is the most amazing of them all. Moore can, and has, blown up like a balloon and survived on wiles alone.

Paige, the man with the rubber arm, could still serve them up until he is 70, which some claim he is, and only the baseball would bear the bruises.

Faces 14th Year

But here is Conerly, at 40, getting set for his 14th year with the New York Giants. And this is a racket noted for its hatchet men, its muscular mastodons who boast of the viciousness of their "play," the ever-increasing size and speed of its performers and the fact that nowhere in its ranks is there a pushover opponent.

Conerly's 185 pounds have been massaged unmercifully over the years and only two men, Sammy Baugh and Mel Hein, lasted longer than this oldest of the pro gridders. Yet the quiet Conerly, running a hand over his gray-flecked hair, still is the Giants' number one quarterback. And he's looking forward to one of his better years.

"Heck," he says, "I feel 35 again."

Conerly isn't fooling himself. "I'm taking it one year at a time," explains the former Marine hero from Mississippi. "But I do feel wonderful right now. Certainly better than I did at this time last year."

Must Set Records

It is true that most athletes who last as long as Conerly must of necessity have amazing records. Conerly has. His passes have gained almost 11 miles of gridiron terrain for the Giants. He completed a record 36 passes in one game against Pittsburgh; has pitched 166 touchdown passes; is third to Baugh and Bobby Layne in total completions, and has a record average that one of every 16 passes has gone for a touchdown.

Only two years ago he won the National League passing title and was voted the league's most valuable player. All he did was complete 113 of 194 passes—with only four interceptions all season.

The Giants are talking championship. And the amazing part is that the old man from Mississippi plays such a major part in their conversation. Sports being what they are, it's no free ride, either.

Ortiz-Valliant Set 10-Rounder Today

MIAMI BEACH (UPI)—Carols

Ortiz and Douglas Valliant, two swift and potent lightweights with eyes for champion Joe Brown's crown, tangle in a 10-round bout tonight at the Miami Beach Auditorium.

Ortiz, a Puerto Rican-born brawler from the Bronx, was an early 8-5 favorite.

The nationally televised fight (ABC) begins at 10 p.m. EDT.

Both battlers planned the bout as a stepping stone to a title fight with Brown, and both were disappointed and not a little irate at news that Brown is considering a third defense against Dave Charnley of England.

Richardson vs Douglas Set McKinley On

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UPI)—Veteran Ham Richardson, who has no Davis Cup aspirations, and seventh-seeded Jon Douglas, who definitely does, were matched today in a first round showdown in the U. S. Tennis championship.

Richardson, 28-year-old ex-cupper now in the investment business in Dallas, already has turned down a fee for U.S. Davis Cup Captain Dave Freed to help get the Yank team into the challenge round against Australia.

For Douglas, a Marine corporal from Santa Monica, Calif., and a former Stanford quarterback, a victory over Ham would earn him serious concern as a cup team member.

Paired Against Perry

Fourth-seeded Mike Sangster of England and sixth-seeded Frank Froehling of Coral Gables, Fla., also were scheduled for action.

Sangster was paired against Norm Perry of West Los Angeles, Calif., and Froehling against Jackie Cooper of Louisville.

In women's singles, it was second-seeded Angela Mortimer, England's Wimbledon champ, vs. Virginia Brown of Fort Worth, Tex., third-seeded Karen Hantze of Chula Vista, Calif., vs. Susan Behlman of Yonkers, N.Y., sixth-seeded Lesley Turner of Australia vs. Belmar Gunderson of Indian Lakes Estates, Fla., and seventh-seeded Ann Haydon of England vs. Barbara Benigni of San Francisco.

McKinley Ousts Stoesser
Chuck McKinley of St. Ann, Mo., and Darlene Hard of Long Beach, Calif., led the parade of favorites in Friday's opening day first rounders.

McKinley, second-seeded and surprise runnerup at Wimbledon this year, ousted George Stoesser of Tucson, Ariz., 7-5, 6-2, 6-2, and Miss Hard opened defense of her title with a 30 minute breeze over Christine Safford of Lansdowne, Pa., 6-1, 6-2.

All seeded players advanced without losing a set. Third-seeded Roy Emerson of Australia whined Ed Rubinoff of Miami Beach, Fla., fifth-seeded Bob Fitzgibbon of Garden City, N.Y., and eighth-seeded Ron Holmberg of Brooklyn downed Mike Green of Philadelphia. Mark and Emerson lost only three games each.

PITTED AGAINST big Campo Alegre bulls Sunday in San Luis Mexico will be Raul Ochoa, "Rovira," who appears on the card from retirement. With Ochoa will be headliner Jaime Bravo and Joselito. Bravo and his actress wife, Ann Robinson will vacation in Palm Springs before the fight.
